FRENCH EXECUTION.

Prado, the Murderer of Marie Augutant, Guillotined.

BRUTAL AFFAIR THROUGHOUT.

The Rabble Laugh and Sing—A Chapter of Incidents—The Condemned Man Protests His Innocence.

PARIS, December 28.—Prado, the murderer of Marie Augutant, his mistress, was guillotined this morning in the Place de la Roquette. He preserved a firm demeanor to the last, and refused to confess. He declined the services of a chaplain. An immense crowd collected outside, last night, and remained until Prado had been executed. The rabble spent the time in singing comic songs and amusing themselves in other boisterous ways. Prado slept well until 6 o'clock. He protested his innocence of the murder of Marie Augutant to the last, and declared against the injustice of this world. He refused to disclose his real name. When the jailers came to pinion his limbs, he offered no resistance. While they were engaged in this operation, he shed one tear. The sight of the guillotine appeared to hypnotize him. His death was witnessed by 200 artists, newspaper men, actors, lawyers and politicians, who possessed influence sufficient to obtain admission within the sentry lines to the Place de la Roquette. In fifty seconds from his appearance at the gate of the prison lay in the basket. In front of the gates of the prison where the execution took place were found a group of men, among whom were seen several of the most distinguished men in France. Near the lines of trees on the upper side of the path stood Mounetsold, of the Comedie Francaise. Near him, armed, were Silvestre and Henry Rochemont. Alphonso Daudet was said to be present. Prado, in walking from the prison to the guillotine, showed no signs of fear. His arms were tightly pinioned behind his back. His heavy locks, which were seen to such advantage in the court room, were gone. His clothing, seemingly, consisted of a heavy woolen undershirt and dark trousers. The shirt had been roughly cut away from about his neck and ears. In front of the guillotine a board stood upright to the height of five feet. As Prado neared the board a most DREADFUL SERIES OF INCIDENTS followed each other with the rapidity of lightning. The trembling abbe stepped apart. Four burly men, dressed in blouses of blue and white striped ticking, who had not been seen before, sprang forward, seized the condemned man, hurried him onward against the upright board, flung themselves upon him, and by their weight bore the struggling victim face downward to the top of the low platform. That board worked on a swivel and had on rollers. In an instant it had been wheeled forward until the neck was under the glistering knife. Deifler, who had stood like stone at the right of the guillotine during all these terrible scenes, now reached forward and fixed the wooden collar over the back of the prisoner's neck. Then the knife was sprung, and the keen steel struck his neck, as it might if colliding with a rubber car spring. It went through, and the head of Prado lay among the shavings beyond.

"We Point With Pride" To the "Good name at home," won by Hood's Sarsaparilla. In Lowell Mass., where it is prepared, there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold than of all other medicines, and it has given the best of satisfaction since its introduction ten years ago. This could not be if the medicine did not possess merit. If you suffer from impure blood, try Hood's Sarsaparilla and realize its peculiar curative power. 262

The "Times" and Sheridan. DUBLIN, December 28.—The Freeman's Journal, referring to the Parnell inquiry, says the Times prolonged the amount of evidence regarding the outrages in the hope of securing testimony to justify the statements made by Attorney-General Webster in his opening address. Feeling the ground slipping from under its feet, it resolved upon a desperate game to retrieve its fortunes. With this in view, it despatched an emissary to America, who discovered Sheridan at Pueblo, Colorado, and tried to induce him to go to London and testify before the commission, promising him, if his evidence proved satisfactory, he would be paid £10,000 within an hour after the examination was concluded. Sheridan played possum with the agent for a time, who finally offered £5,000 down if he would accompany the agent to England. Sheridan then positively declined to appear before the commission. He assured the agent that he was in no wise desirous to snare the fate of James Carey.

Epoch The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 20¢ and 50¢ per bottle.
